

Biographie

Amine Kchiche

Assistant Professor, University of Manouba, member of Cristal research Lab

Amine Kchiche is Assistant Professor at the University of Manouba and member of Cristal research Lab.

He received his Computer Science Engineering and DEA degrees from the University of Karlsruhe in Germany in 2005 and then his Ph.D degree from ENSI, Tunisia under the supervision of Professor Farouk Kamoun.

Currently, he is working on different topics related to Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS) focusing among others on networking and energy consumption optimization.

He's contributing to several industrial and scientific projects in the area of ITS and he is supervising Ph.D. and Master students who are working on this research domain.